Cycle Route 5: Ancient Stones & Old Manors

Cotswolds
National Landscape

A chance to visit both Chastleton House, the Rollright Stones and drop in on Chipping Norton. Great views from Kingham Hill and Chastleton Camp – but that means a few climbs!

Grade: Medium, a few sharp/long climbs

Time: 4-5 hours

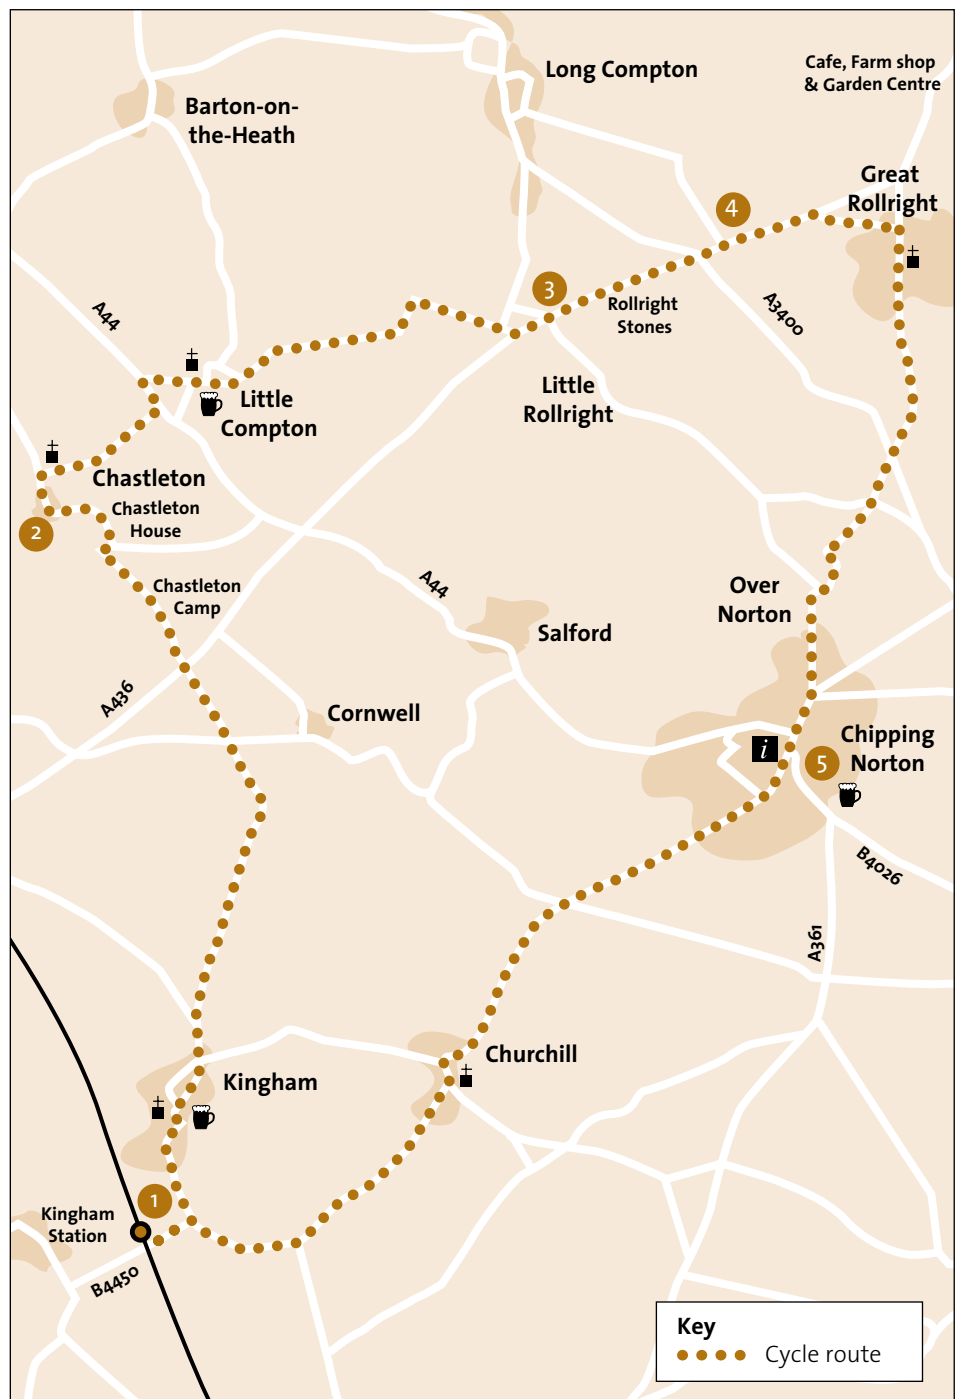

Distance: 30km/19 miles

Stops/pubs: Pub in Churchill. Pub and shops in Kingham

Attractions: Chastleton House (National Trust), Rollright Stones, Chipping Norton

Highlights

- Kingham was voted 'England's Favourite Village' in 2004 by Country Life magazine.
- Churchill has a church tower visible for miles, a two-thirds copy of Magdalen College tower in Oxford.
- The Rollright Stones is an ancient site consisting of three main elements, the Kings Men stone circle, the King Stone, and the Whispering Knights. Numerous myths and legends surround the stones including the claim that it is impossible to count the stones and get the same result three times.

Chipping Norton

The highest town in Oxfordshire and once an important centre of the wool trade. Chipping Norton was given a charter by King John in 1205 to hold a wool fair. This later became a Mop Fair, a tradition still maintained as a funfair. St Mary's Church reflects the prosperity of the town's wool merchants living here in the 15th century. There are some attractive almshouses in Church Street. A curious local feature just south west of the town is the Bliss's Valley Tweed Mill, built in 1872 with an Italianate chimney!

The Cotswolds National Landscape

This route takes you through part of the Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. The Cotswolds was designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) in 1966 in recognition of its rich, diverse and high quality landscape. It is the largest of 38 AONBs in England and Wales, covering 790 sq miles, stretching from the City of Bath and Wiltshire in the south through Gloucestershire and Oxfordshire to Warwickshire and Worcestershire in the north.
